Ed Muhlenfeld was raised in Baltimore and has degrees from Princeton (B.A.) and Georgetown (M.A.). He began investing as a hobby and after military service in Vietnam, transformed his hobby into a career in 1971. He has lived in Arizona since 1975 and was selected by Money Magazine as one of the top 100 brokers in the nation in 1987. Ed and his wife Linda live in Scottsdale where Linda is an AKC Wire Haired Fox Terrier breeder.

Together with his team partner, Rob Huish, they work with conservative growth investors who seek income for current use or retirement. They do not deal with options or futures and emphasize liquidity in portfolios consisting primarily of dividend-paying stocks, mutual funds and bonds. Most of their practice is fee-based and does not have a minimum account size as long as they are able to properly diversify a portfolio.
